Guidance

The first statement requires careful reading. The passage says that the angel 'was at least seven feet tall', which means it was seven feet tall or over. Therefore, the first statement is false, as it says that the angel was 'nearly' (just under) seven feet tall.

We know that the angel may or may not be male, because Freya herself is confused about this, so the second statement is possibly true.

We also know that Freya 'hadn't been afraid at all', so the third statement is false.

Freya asks herself if angels have night vision – she does not know, but he seems to have flown into the night without any problems, so the final statement is possibly true.
